2. Horses and sleighs in the cold nights of winter
 Smoke from a wood fire rising
 Natives and rangers, trappers and loggers
 All left their mark and all touched her soul

3. So many souls have passed through these wild woods
 So many weary travellers
 Tired and torn from a world filled with madness
 Each seeking the strength that this earth can bring

4. And given this gift of wild woods and water
 Silver of winter, gold from the fall
 With peace in their hearts they faded to darkness
 Leaving their spirits to waltz with the woods
